UNITED STATES HISTORY

A GUIDE TO REFERENCE SOURCES

This guide to basic reference sources for the study of the history of the United States of America up to the mid 20th century concentrates on the traditional subdisciplines of history, such as constitutional, diplomatic, economic and social history and biography. Other guides which may be useful in addressing related topics from a historical viewpoint are those on American Literature, Native Peoples of Canada, Jewish Studies, English and American Theatre and Drama, and Womens' Studies.

Biographical Information

Sources for biographical information may be found in two sections in this guide. Dictionaries of biography are listed in section II while bibliographies citing references to biographies, autobiographies and diaries are found in section V. E. 1.

Government Documents

Government documents are an important source for the study of United States history. The Government Documents Department has a large but not comprehensive collection of U. S. government publications. Indices and guides to these are not listed in this guide but in United States Government Publications: a Guide to Sources of Information which is an annotated listing of material available in the Government Documents Department. Copies of this guide may be consulted at the Government Documents reference desk and at the Humanities and Social Sciences Library reference desk.

Specialized federal and state (in particular New York, Louisiana and California) documents such as treaties, statutes and court decisions, as well as works on constitutional and judicial history are available in the Law Library. A Selective Bibliography of United States Legal Sources describing useful sources in the Law Library may be consulted in the Law Library or at the Humanities and Social Sciences Library reference desk.

Center for Research Libraries

The Center for Research Libraries has strong collections of U. S. government publications, archival sources, and important collections on microform which may be borrowed for research purposes. These include papers of individuals (e.g. Albert Gallatin, 1761-1880) and institutions (such as Manhattan Project) as well as U. S. official publications and records such as of the National Archives, bills and resolutions of the Senate and House (1789-1965), Indian claims decisions, and Supreme Court Records and Briefs (1792-1986). For further details consult the CRL Handbook, available at the McLennan reference desk, as well as the binders which contain guides to the contents of special CRL collections, shelved in the reference area.

Microfilmed Collections

Several collections of material important to the study of the United States are available in microform either in the collection of the Microfilmed and Periodicals Reading Room or on loan from the Center for Research Libraries. All of the titles listed in the bibliographies in the section V. C. 4. Microfilmed Collections have been filmed and where bibliographies exist they have been tagged to indicate the availability of the documents included.

Locations

Not all locations have been indicated for titles in this bibliography. For additional locations please consult MUSE.

This bibliography was revised by Suzy M. Slavin, Reference Department, Humanities and Social Sciences Library.

I. ENCYCLOPEDIAS AND HANDBOOKS

Dictionary of American History. Rev. ed. New York, Scribner, 1976-78. 8v.

Ref E174 D52

An encyclopedic dictionary of the history of the United States covering the period from discovery to the beginning of the Second World War. Articles vary in length from several paragraphs to several pages, are signed by the many specialists who contributed to the set and include bibliographical references. Since this work is a companion to the Dictionary of American Biography (see section II.B), no biographies are included. Detailed index. Includes full text of basic documents (Declaration of Independence, etc.) but a more comprehensive source for documents is Commager's Documents of American History (Ref E173 C66 1968).

Carruth, Gorton. The Encyclopedia of American Facts and Dates. 8th ed. New York, Harper and Row, 1987.

Ref E174.5 C3 1987

A chronology covering four areas of development in U.S. history: politics, art, science, and popular culture. Covers events through 1986 and includes narrative about each event. Detailed index.

Encyclopedia of American Economic History: Studies of Principal Movements and Ideas. New York, Scribner, 1980. 3v.

Ref HC103 E52

Encyclopedia of American Political History: Studies of the Principal Movements and Indeas. New York, Scribner, 1984. 3v.

Ref HC103 E52

Both of these sets contain long, signed articles on major themes of United States economic and political history. Lengthy bibliographic references follow each article. References to related articles follow the bibliographies. Subject Index.

Encyclopedia of Southern History. Baton Rouge, Louisiana State University Press, 1979.

Ref E207.7 E52

A broad range of topics are covered in articles of varying length. Entries are arranged alphabetically, and include bibliographic references. Numerous maps and tables and subject index. Comprehensive coverage of state, regional and local history as well as biography.

Encyclopedia of the American Constitution. New York, MacMillan, 1986. 4v.

Law KF4548 E53 1986

Surveys major historical, political and legal ramifications of the U.S. constitution as of October 1984. In articles of varying length, treats doctrines, individuals, decisions, historical periods and treaties, etc. A subject index, a case index, a glossary, a chronology and reprints of several basic texts are found in volume 4.

Harvard Encyclopedia of American Ethnic Groups. Cambridge, Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1980.

Ref E184 A1H35

Over 160 groups with distinctive cohesiveness (whether regional Appalachans,indigenous Mormons or immigrant Swedish) are discussed in substantial essays followed by a selective bibliography. Maps, statistical tables and a series of thematic essays, e.g. history of U.S. immigration policy, provide a valuable historical overview.

Johnson, Thomas H. The Oxford Companion to American History. New York, Oxford University Press, 1966.

Ref E174 J6

Dictionary arrangement of short articles on "lives, events and places significant in the founding and growth of the nation... social, political and labor movements... art, science, commerce, literature, education, and law... sports and entertainment." (Preface) Compiled as a companion to the Oxford Companion to American Literature, now in its 5th edition (PS21 H3 1983 Ref.) and treats many of the same subjects from an historical viewpoint.

Morris, Richard B., ed. Encyclopedia of American History. Bicentennial ed. New York, Harper & Row, 1976.

McL E174.5 M847 1970

Webster's Guide to American History, a Chronological Geographical and Biographical Survey and Compendium. Springfield, Mass., G. & C. Merriam, 1971.

McL E174.5 W4

Chronologies, maps, tables and biographies of notable individuals are found in both of these handbooks.

Readers Encyclopedia of the American West. New York, Crowell, 1977.

Ref F591 R38

Close to 2400 signed articles on a range of people, places, institutions covering politics, arts, geography, history. Writers are included but individual works of literature are not. Numerous references to related headings and many entries have bibliographies. Especially useful for summary histories of individual states, languages, industries, missions, etc.

II. BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARIES

A) Historians

American Historians, 1607 - 1865. Detroit, Gale Research, 1984.

Ref E175.45 A48 1984

V. BIBLIOGRAPHY

A. Guides to the Literature

Freidel, Frank Burt. Harvard Guide to American History. Rev. ed. Cambridge, Mass., Belknap Press, 1974. 2v.

Ref Z1236 F77 1974

A basic guide to methods, sources and publications in political, social, constitutional and economic history as of 1970. This edition is a greatly revised expansion of, although not entirely superceding, Oscar Handlin's earlier edition by the same title (Z1236 H27 Ref.) and Channing, Hart and Turner's Guide to the Study and Reading of American History (Z1236 C45 1912 McL). The Harvard guides give greater coverage to intellectual and social history. The first volume contains a series of topical bibliographies and the second volume is chronological.

Hackett, Homer Carey. The Critical Method in Historical Research and Writing. New York, Macmillan, 1955.

McL Cutter FA H65i3

Essentially a step-by-step manual to research in American history at the M.A. level and beyond, originally written to serve as a manual for graduate students. Includes a bibliography of research materials.

Fingerhut, Eugene R. The Fingerhut Guide: Sources in American History. Santa Barbara, Calif., American Bibliographic Center, Clio Press, 1973.

Ref Z1215 A2F5X

The Handbook is a thorough guide to research sources, written in the form of bibliographic essays, suggesting relevent titles under 30 chapter headings. Includes both general categories of materials such as newspapers as well as subjects such as women, education, etc. Somewhat easier to use for the beginning researcher is the Fingerhut Guide. Part one arranges bibliographies by subject. Part two lists general reference materials arranged by format: book catalogues, national bibliographies, indexes and abstracts, government documents, etc. Includes a section on how to do research.

Sources of Information in the Social Sciences: A Guide to the Literature. Chicago, American Library Association, 1986.

Ref Z7161 S666 1986

The chapter covering history as a discipline has a section entitled "United States History" which is a bibliographic essay listing, by general chronological period, the important monographs. The section "Survey of Reference Works" is an excellent selective guide to reference works in history including some specialized tools of American history.

America: History and Life. v.0, 1954/63- Santa Barbara, Calif.

Index Stands Ref Z1236 A48 Lib. has: v.0, 1954/63-

Summarizes, in English, articles on Canadian and United States history and culture from prehistoric times to the present. Signed abstracts of articles from periodicals in over 40 languages. Includes state and local history publications as well as festschriften and chapters analyzed from books. Arrangement covers North America in general, then Canada and the United States, subdivided by historical period or region. Beginning with 1974 issued in 4 parts: A - Abstracts of Articles; B - Book Reviews; C - Bibliography of books, articles and dissertations; and D - Annual index. Cumulative index every 5 years includes a list of periodicals abstracted. Canadian and American history publications issued prior to 1964 are included in Historical Abstracts (Z299 H5 Ref. Index Stands).

Writings on American History. 1902- Washington.

Ref Z1236 L331 Lib. has: 1902- Index 1902-40. [1904-05, 1941-47 never published]

An annual selective list of books and articles on United States history published in part by the American Historical Association. Primarily English language coverage, but treats history in broad sense, including national cultural, political, military, economic, social and family histories as well as regional and local publications. Through 1935 included coverage of Canada and Latin America as well. Contents and descriptive notes for many entries up to 1961. References to critical reviews in pre-1945 volumes only. There is a cumulative index for 1902-1940 and for 1962-1973. This work continues Larned's Literature of American History (see section V.C.I.B.) The A.H.A. also publishes Recently Published Articles (Ref Z6201 R295), which appears 3 times per year. The section on the United States provides comprehensive current coverage of the literature.

———.———. Supplement. Washington, U.S. Govt. Printing Office, 1976.

Ref Z1215 U53 Supp 56/65

Two basic sources devoted to cultural thought in the United States. The publication produced by the Library of Congress is a thorough survey of over 6,000 titles on the civilization of the United States, arranged in 32 chapters by subject. Critical evaluative annotations include references to additional relevant works. The supplement using the same arrangement covers works published between 1955-65. The other is more selective, arranged in 11 general subject areas with descriptive annotations and was published under the auspices of the American Studies Association. Sources for American Studies (Ref E175 S58 1983) is a collection of bibliographic essays on a wide variety of general historical topics as well as specialized topics such as communal history. The two volume Articles in American Studies 1954-1968 (Ref Z1215 C6X) cumulates the annual bibliographies which appeared in American Quarterly (McL AP2 A3985).

Carman, Harry J., and Arthur W. Thompson. A Guide to the Principal Sources for American Civilization, 1800-1900, in the City of New York: Printed Materials. New York, Columbia University Press, 1962.

Ref Z1236 C25 1962

While the purpose of this volume is to locate printed materials on 19th century American culture in New York City repositories, it nevertheless serves as a basic bibliography of books and articles on the nineteenth century United States. Subject arrangement with sub-division by state. Index to authors, titles, subjects.

European Americana: A Chronological Guide to Works Printed in Europe Relating to the Americas, 1493-1776. New York, Readex Books, 1980-

Ref Z1203 E87

In progress, this bibliography, based on the holdings and resources of the John Carter Brown Library, lists works by year of printing, then by author. Charts the flow of interest in the Americas. Includes copy locations and brief notes. Each volume has a list of printers and booksellers and an author/title/subject index. Sabin's Bibliotheca Americana, a Dictionary of Books Relating to America From Its Discovery to the Present Time (Ref Z1201 S2) may be useful.
